

Chandler's Cottage Rush Newsletter

Hi Girls,

Remember the good old days, when Leesa used to put together a wonderful, detailed newsletter? Yes, well so do I, and those days are about to return! Let's just do this week's super duper Melbourne Craft and Quilt Fair, and then we'll have a "propa" newsletter!

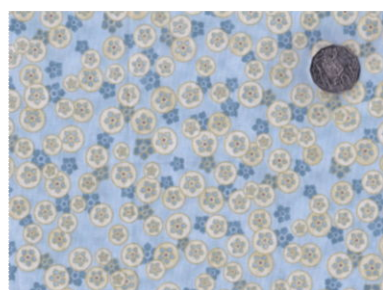

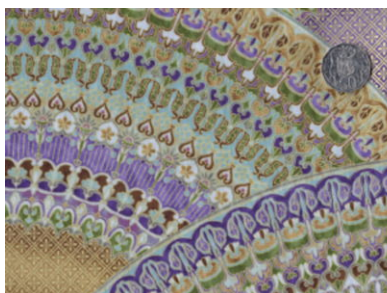

Now, for those who will be at the show this week, don't forget to print off your Newsletter Member Specials on the last page – you're going to need them!

If you were planning on visiting the shop this week while the show is on – PLEASE DON'T, we are CLOSED for the Melbourne show! We decided to take the opportunity to do a big rearrangement of stock, furniture etc, and we really hope you "like what we've done with the place" when we reopen on the 28th of July!

However it IS BUSINESS AS USUAL for all your phone and website enquiries and orders, and we will be taking your calls and filling orders from our show stand this week.

Don't forget the show is also open late on Saturday night until 7pm, and it's a great idea to take in dinner at Crown Casino and enjoy the city lights at night, while admiring your bags of purchases from the show!

If you are at the show this week, you will also have the opportunity to see and pre-order the soon to be released Grandeur, (see examples below). This spectacular range of fabrics from Robert Kaufman will be arriving in September, and in the meantime you can secure your selection at the show or on line. Pre-orders with payment at the show, will be sent postage free on their arrival.

We also have some cute new little kits of our Theatre bag:

Pattern $12 & Kit $25

and a lovely new dragonfly version of the Sassy Handbag, this time in navy, cream and red.

Pattern $12 & Kit $45

If dots are your thing, check out the “Choc Mint” version of the Go Go Girl Bag, and new kits of the original Red, Cream and Black version are also in stock.

Pattern $12 & Kit $45

There are loads of new fabrics due, including Hoffmans, the most wonderful Quiltgates (best I've seen in years), and don't even start me on Oriental Traditions 8 from Robert Kaufman, it's spectacular! Keep an eye on the website fabric shop, and I promise as above to let you know when they are here!

Don't forget my Japanese Baltimore and Geisha in the Moonlight Quilts are now available as patterns, and if you are at the show, you will see my new version of Forbidden City, which will be available as a kit, as well as a pattern.

Pattern $30

Pattern $25

Thank you to everyone waiting on Under the Australian Sun fabrics and kits, for your patience! Arrival of this stock is now imminent, and you can just about hold your breath and survive! Everyone's envelopes are addressed, and kits are just waiting on a couple of final fabrics before we can post out – really, it's really close....

We will have stock at this week's show as well, and the range is included in our specials for Newsletter members visiting the show.

Classes

For those waiting on a WIP day or two, I have two available for upcoming Saturdays 31st July and 7th August. These will run from 10am to 3pm, and are $44 for the day including morning tea.

Thanks Girls, got to go and sew on some handles, iron some of those Hoffman's I was telling you about, and finish some special signs for the show.

Looking forward to that “propa” newsletter as much as you are!

Warm Wishes, Leesa.
